jubilant over the action of the stomach, and yesterday morning before his departure for New York dwelt upon the fact that the stomach seemed to have resumed its normal functions. The breakfast of chicken broth, toast and coffee given yesterday morning was spoken of by all the physicians as strong evidence of the President's marked improvement. It was only when it became apparent late in the morning that this food had not agreed with the President that the first genuine anxiety appeared. The first note of alarm was sounded in the official bulletin yesterday afternoon, which spoke of the President's fatigue.

GANGRENE CAUSED IT.

Physicians Badly Fooled About the Condition of the Wound.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Gangrene caused the death of the President and the wound was fatal from the start. This is the verdict of the fourteen physicians and surgeons who to-day performed an autopsy on the body of the murdered President. It is given officially and over their signatures as follows:

"The ball which struck over the breast bone did not pass through the skin, and did but little harm.

LEON CZOLGOSZ.
The Man That Shot the President.

The other bullet passed through both walls of the stomach near its lower border.

Both holes were found to be perfectly closed, but the tissue around each hole had become gangrenous. After passing through the stomach the bullet passed into the back walls of the abdomen, hitting and tearing the upper end of the kidney. This portion of the bullet track was also gangrenous, the gangrene involving the pancreas. The bullet has not yet been found. There was no sign of peritonitis or disease of other organs. The heart walls were very thin. There was no evidence of any attempt at repair on the part of nature, and death resulted from gangrene, which affected the stomach around the bullet wounds as well as the tissues around the further course of the bullet. Death was unavoidable by any surgical or medical treatment, and was the direct result of the bullet wound.

WILL LIE IN STATE.

Three Cities to Do Honor to the Dead Leader.

Washing., Sept. 16.—The body of President McKinley lay in state at the City Hall, Buffalo, Sunday afternoon and was viewed by 80,000 people by midnight. It will reach Washington tonight and lie in state in the rotunda of the Capitol after funeral services Tuesday morning. Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock the funeral train will leave for Canton, O., arriving Wednesday. After lying in state there, it will be buried Thursday.

"BOO! BOO!!"

Exclaimed Negro, As He Rushed At the Merchant.

Soon Had Possession of Store, And Looting Cash Drawer, Hurriedly Left.

Mr. H. H. Skerrett, who conducts a grocery on second street, had an experience last Thursday night, which he will not soon forget.

He was sitting near the center of his store house about 9:30 o'clock reading a paper, when he heard some one enter the front way of the building. Looking up he saw a large colored man, with a two-by-six scantling eight feet long in his hands, rapidly approaching him.

The negro made a rush for the proprietor, exclaiming "Boo! boo!!" Mr. Skerrett immediately fled, passing out of the rear door, and ran some distance to another business house, where he related his experience. He was joined by several friends and all went to the store. Just before arriving they saw a man leave the building. He ran rapidly across a field and could not be overtaken as he disappeared in the darkness. On making an examination of the store it was found that the robber had opened the cash drawer, securing about $30. A purse containing a few dollars, in the bottom section of the drawer, was not found. Mr. Skerrett says he could identify the man, but never knew his name. He had on several occasions sold him groceries.

Every load of coal bought from me will be weighed.

CUTTING SCRAPE.

Pete Owen Cut Five Times By Jim Gresham.

Peter M. Owen was cut and wounded in the face and neck Saturday by Jas. Gresham. The trouble was over a trade Owen was trying to make for the place, upon which Gresham lives. The men met on the street and after some words Gresham drew a knife and cut Owen across the face four or five times, making painful but not serious gashes. One cut narrowly missed the jugular vein. Both men were arrested and will be tried Thursday.

tears from those about him and two great drops ran down either cheek of the successor of William McKinley.

Mr. Root's chin was on his breast. Suddenly throwing back his head, as if with an effort, he continued in broken voice:

"I have been requested on behalf of the cabinet of the late President, at least those who are present in Buffalo, all except two, to request that for reasons of weight affecting the affairs of government you should proceed to take the constitutional oath of office of President of the United States."

Judge Hazel had stepped to the rear of the President and Mr. Roosevelt, coming closer to Secretary Root, said in a voice that first wavered, but finally came deep and strong, while, as if to control his nervousness, he held firmly to the lapel of his coat with his right hand.

Roosevelt's Pledge.

"I shall take the oath at once in accordance with your request, and in this hour of deep and terrible national bereavement I wish to state that it shall be my aim to continue absolutely unbroken the policy of President McKinley for the peace and prosperity and honor of our beloved country."

The President stepped farther into the bay window and Judge Hazel, taking up the constitutional oath of office, asked the President to raise his right hand and repeat it after him. There was a hush like death in the room as the judge read a few words at a time and the President in a strong voice and without a tremor and with his raised hand as steady as if carved from marble repeated it after him. "And thus I swear," he ended it. The hand dropped by the side, the chin for an instant rested on the breast and the silence remained unbroken for a couple of minutes as though the new President of the United States was offering silent prayer.

Judge Hazel broke it, saying: "Mr. President, please attach your signature," and the President, turning to a small table near by, wrote "Theodore Roosevelt" at the bottom in a firm hand.

"I should like to see the members of the cabinet for a few moments after the others retire," said the President, and this was the sign for the score of people who had been favored by witnessing the ceremony to retire. As they turned to go the President said:

"I will shake hands with you people gladly," and with something of his old smile returning he first shook hands with the members of the cabinet present, then Senator Depew and finally with a few guests and newspaper men.

HOWISON IS BARRED.

Ruled as Ineligible to Sit in The Court of Inquiry on Schley's Case.

He Talked Too Much And Schley's Attorneys objected.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The Schley court of inquiry convened at Washington Wednesday and Admiral Schley promptly challenged the competency of Admiral Howison to sit as a member of the court. Three witnesses were introduced who heard Howison make anti-Schley declarations. In reply Howison maintained that he was fitted to serve, but his associates, Dewey and Benham, excused him.

Dewey Calls Down Lemly.

In asking Admiral Schley for a designation of his witnesses, Capt. Lemly referred to the admiral as the "accused." Admiral Dewey promptly called his attention to the error, and the judge advocate general corrected it, referring to him then as "the applicant."

The Navy Department to-day designated Rear Admiral Ramsey to take Howison's place and the court was ordered to reconvene Monday.

CRAP GAME

Causes a Killing at Dalton Rock Quarry.

Renben Haynes Slays John Cannon And Makes Good His Escape.

A party of negroes were engaged in a game of crap shooting at an early hour Sunday morning at Dalton's rock quarry, just beyond the city limits, when a quarrel arose between several persons who had been drinking and as a consequence John Cannon was shot and killed by Renben Haynes. Both Cannon and Haynes recently came here from Nashville, and had been working in the quarry ever since. They were drinking freely before the shooting occurred. The trouble is supposed to have grown out of an accusation of cheating in the crap game. As soon as he had shot his man Haynes escaped, and is still at large, though officers are on his track. He is armed with a revolver and knife and went toward Tennessee.

It is said this is the third man Haynes has killed. Tom Arnold, col., is under arrest charged with assisting Haynes to escape.
